

ANNOUNCEMENT

The following changes in 'Indian Minerals', the flagship Earth science journal published from the Geological Survey of India, are to be implemented soon (starting from Vol.62, No.1, January – March, 2008):

- 1) Name of the journal: To be changed from the present 'Indian Minerals' to 'Journal of Geosciences (formerly Indian Minerals) - Geological Survey of India'.
- 2) Size: To be increased to Demy Quarto size (11 ×9½ approx) from the existing Crown Quarto size (9½ ×7½ approx).
- 3) Cover Design: Layout of the cover will also be changed concomitantly.
- 4) Periodicity: Quarterly publication.

Besides the above, a major drive is being undertaken to revamp the journal that has completed more than 60 years of continuous publication.
